Do's and Don'ts!!
For a Safe Hospital Stay

Raise the bed fence.

Even only
for 3 seconds...

The moment
when you look away
from your child!

Even for a brief moment...

During hospitalization, children are more anxious than usual due to the different environment and physical condition, and they behave differently from usual. Is the bed fence raised up to the top?

Is there anything on the bed that your child can step on and climb out of bed? Is there anything that may cause your child to choke or suffocate? Please check again for safety.

Hold hands when walking!!

You may have to change diapers
more often than usual
when an IV straw is connected to you.

You may carelessly
forget that an IV straw is connected to you.

Children may forget about the IV line and start running when they find something interesting or feel anxious.

They may feel unsteady on their feet unexpectedly when walking after staying in bed for a long period of time. With this in mind, please hold hands with your child for safety.

Wear shoes
that are comfortable to walk in.

Do your shoes
come off easily?

Can your shoes
cause you
to trip and fall?

Your child may not be able to walk like they usually do after being in bed for a long period of time. If your child wears shoes that come off easily, he/she may trip and fall. Even if your
